

We want to be a people who know the one true living God. We want to know His words and recognize His voice. We want to be aware of God's presence in all facets of life and actively participate in His kingdom. We want to seek His righteousness. We want our lives to be directed and empowered by the Holy Spirit, God in us.

oneness.

We want to be a people who journey deeply together. We want to carry each other's burdens, share our possessions, confess our sins and pray for one another. We want to suffer and celebrate life together.

togetherness.

We want to be a people who advance the kingdom of God. We want to announce His reign and rule with our words and actions. We want to join God in freeing others from any type of oppression He directs us to. We want to give ourselves away in order to play our role in the restoration of this broken world.

otherness.

We want to be a people who love well.
